Brothers and sisters will have the longest lasting relationship with a sibling who has special health or developmental needs. Sibshops gives siblings the chance to talk about their issues with others who “get it.”

Here’s what kids say about Sibshops:

“At Sibshops you get to meet other brothers and sisters of kids with special needs.”

“Sibshops have outrageous games!”

“At Sibshops you can talk about the good and not-so-good parts of having a brother or sister who has special needs.”

“Sibshops are a place to learn about cool things.”

“It was COOL that I could talk with other kids with siblings with special needs.”

“Sibshops are fun!”

Goals

Children who participate in Sibshops will have the opportunity to:

- Explore their feelings regarding how having a sibling with special health or developmental needs affects them
- Express how they view their family and their place in it
- Relate to and have fun with kids facing similar circumstances
- Enhance their awareness of how important they are
- Have fun by playing games, doing crafts, and physical activity
